Hyperparathyroidism with a giant parathyroid tumour with capsular infiltration;
JArticle; Sri Lankan Family Physician; Vol: 6; 1983_69-71pp

Abstract : We present the case of a 39 year old lady with primary hyperparathyroidism who had been suffering from a multitude of symptoms and marked psychiatric manifestations for a period of 2 years. She had an unusually large parathyroid tumour which showed evidence of capsular infiltration on histological examination. She was treated surgically and has remained well in the past 1 year.
