ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This report was prepared by the POLICY Project as part of a 13-country study of adolescent reproductive health issues, policies, and programs on behalf of the Asia/Near East Bureau of USAID. Dr. Karen Hardee, Director of Research for the POLICY Project oversaw the study.

The authors wish to express their sincere thanks to Dr. Hiranthi Wijemanne of UNICEF and Dr. Deepthi Perera at the Ministry of Health for their valuable insights into adolescent reproductive health issues in Sri Lanka.

They are grateful to Ms. Priyadarshini de Silva at the Department of Census and Statistics for providing tables from the report of the 2000 Demographic and Health Survey (DHS), which had not yet been released.

The authors would also like to thank the following people for their support of this study: Lily Kak, Gary Cook, and Elizabeth Schoenecker at USAID; and Ed Abel, Karen Hardee, Pam Pine, Lauren Taggart Wasson, Katie Abel, Nancy McGirr, and Koki Agarwal of the Futures Group. The views expressed in this report do not necessarily reflect those of USAID.

POLICY is funded by the U.S. Agency for International Development under Contract No. HRN-C-00-00-0006-00, beginning July 7, 2000. The project is implemented by the Futures Group International in collaboration with Research Triangle Institute (RTI) and the Center for Development and Population Activities (CEDPA).
